Mariah's Corner

Imagine: You hold in your breath as you look back at your home, this won't be the last time you see it, but it still feels like it. You climb onto the monorail that will take you to your future. Bounders Academy, the only school to be in space, EVER. Bounders are a group of people with genes specially designed to navigate space. It's a place that you were MEANT for. You tap your feet impatiently as the monorail slowly progresses towards the launch site, where you will then set off to the academy in a ROCKET ship!!! The monorail inches as slowly as it can into the launch site, news cameras all turn to you as you step out. You clutch your parents' hands as one last goodbye before you leave. There are at least 300 people gathered around. You stare as parents and kids alike all go into group hugs and sob like it's their last goodbye. A small group of news cameras follow a woman as she walks towards the stage. She has a bored expression, as if she would rather do anything than this. On stage, as if a switch was flipped, she starts to flash the most fake smile you ever seen. "Can I have everyone's attention?!" You wince as the microphone rings across the crowded area. She starts some long and boring speech. You tune her out as you study the crowd. Suddenly her droning speech stops and you hear: "And welcome, to Earth Bound Academy!!!"

Bounders should definitely be on your to read list. It was a thrilling space adventure for those who seek to leave this world behind. This futuristic novel is by Monica Tesler. And you can easily find it at Springville library. Guaranteed to take away your afternoon.
